

Privacy Policy

Counterplas understands the issue regarding privacy on the Internet and as a result we will explain how we handle the information we receive through our website.

The technology we use collects information such as domains name, search engines used and keywords searched on and this information is collated to identify number of visits to our website and other such statistics for the purposes of improving our website and our marketing. This information will not be used for any other purposes.

However, you may wish to provide us with additional information to allow us to respond to your requests for further contact. Counterplas will not provide this information to any companies outside of the group. You will always be given the opportunity to say that you do not wish to receive further information.

Any information we collect via either of the methods stated above will be held for as long as necessary to conduct business relationships. It will be stored securely and you will have the right to access information held by us in respect of you, as instructed by Data Protection legislation.

By using this site, you signify your assent to Counterplas Privacy Policy. If you do not agree to this policy, please do not use this site. We reserve the right, at our discretion, to change modify, add, or remove portions of this policy at any time. Please check this page periodically for changes. Your continued use of this site following the posting of changes to these terms will mean you accept those changes.

If you have any questions or comments contact us via the contact details on our Contact page.
